

Meet Unicorn Class's New Teacher

Miss Islam

My name is Miss Islam, and I will be joining Sandringham Primary School (after Easter for the new term) as an Assistant Principal and Unicorn Class's new teacher.

I am an experienced teacher and I have been teaching for 13 years. I have taught across the whole of Key Stages 1 and 2 and in Year 6 for the last six years. In my current role, I have led ICT and the Computing curriculum for 10 years. I specialise in Pedagogy Coaching and I have extensive experience of mentoring undergraduate teachers, school direct students and Early Career Teachers.

I love teaching. I am passionate about enabling children to become creative, independent thinkers by using stimulating learning environments. I want to help pupils at Sandringham Primary School reach their full potential.

I am looking forward to working alongside talented and motivated teachers at Sandringham Primary School. I am also very excited about working alongside Mr Metcalfe and the other Senior Leaders, to build upon the success of the school.

When I am not at school, I enjoy spending time with my family. I have a son who is 21 and currently in his last year at university. I am also one of seven siblings and I enjoy spending time with all my nieces, nephews and great nephew too.

I am really look forward to meeting you all,

Miss Islam
